NO PROGRESS AT THE HAGUE

Refusal of Soviets to Make Concessions Indicates Failure of Conference—Good Harvests Expected in Russia.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
The Hague, July 7.—The international conference on reconstruction of Russia was on the point of a breakdown today. The delegates were pessimistic over the outlook. In view of the refusal of the Russian Soviet delegates to make private property concessions, predictions were made that the meeting would end next week.
The Soviet delegates evidently backed up by news of good harvests at home, are more stubborn in their attitude than they were at Geneva. They are persistently demanding results as compensation for damage done to Russia properly through Allied military intervention in Russia.
The Allied delegates, especially the French and Belgians, declare that the Russians are making demands that cannot be fulfilled and it is understood that the French have threatened to withdraw immediately if the Russians do not modify their stand.
The arrival of Leonid Krassin has had no appreciable effect on the Russian policy. It is indicated that, in addition to news of good harvests at home, the Moscow extremists are exerting more and more pressure upon the Muscovite delegation.

ENLARGE U. & D. REPAIR SHOPS

Hudson River Bluestone Building to Be Removed and Rebuilt on West End of Present Shops—Company Will Then Make Nearly All Own Locomotive Repairs.

Contracts were signed Friday by the Michaud-Campbell Co., and the Ulster and Delaware Railroad Company for a large addition to the general repair shops of the railroad company. The plans for this improvement were described in the Freeman about a month ago.
The new structure will have a frontage on the Strand of 154 feet, a depth of 74 feet and a height of 50 feet. The main part of the old four-story frame building along the dock on the Strand which formerly belonged to the Hudson River Bluestone Company will be dismantled and rebuilt on the site of the new shops which will extend from the present locomotive repair shops along the Strand toward the passenger station of the railroad. The sides will be very nearly solid glass with iron settings while the building itself will rest on piles. The old Bluestone building which will be dismantled contains a traveling crane with a capacity of twenty tons which will be installed in the new shops. The building will be further equipped with all the modern up to date appliances.
The work will commence on Monday, July 10. When completed this will give the company repair shops in which they can do all classes of repair work in connection with the railroad and will practically do away with the necessity of sending the engines to the American Locomotive Works at Schenectady for repairs.

OPEN AIR GOSPEL SERVICE SUNDAY

Greater interest is shown each year in the outdoor Gospel services held by the Y. M. C. A. during July and August. Last Sunday's crowd proved that the services were going to be well attended this season. The Rev. Mr. Cole gave a most forceful address and the singing was conducted in a most pleasing manner by Charles Knight.
More chairs have been secured for this coming Sunday evening in order that there may be plenty of seats for all those who attend. The Rev. William Nelson, who has been so successful with the English Lutheran Church, will give the address for the coming evening. He is a forceful speaker. Robert Hawksley is to sing at the opening of the meeting and the service will begin promptly at 7 o'clock. All are cordially welcome.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY SHOT WHILE ROBBING STORE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 8.—Wildred Michaud, 18-year-old high school graduate, was shot and killed by police early today, when he and a confederate were trapped robbing the safe of a chain grocery store at 3053 Mount Pleasant street. Bernard P. Casson, 19, who was with Michaud, surrendered to the police. Casson admitted that he and Michaud during the past four months had stolen a number of automobiles and had robbed more than a score of stores.

Cairo, Egypt, July 8.—Major W. T. Blake, famous British airman, who set out from London on May 24 on a round the world, has arrived at Aboukir, said a dispatch from that place today. He will leave on Monday. His delay has been caused by mechanical trouble.

SHOPMEN'S STRIKE ENDS FIRST WEEK

Jewell and Labor Board Still Far Apart on Basis for Resumption of Work—Violence Not of Great Proportions So Far.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 8.—The strike of railway shopmen entered its second week today with no definite move toward its settlement having been made, and with few signs of peace in evidence.
"The strong undercurrent" of peace sentiment which observers professed to note earlier in the present week, has not come to the surface and so far as outward indications are concerned, the controversy is still in the fighting stage. No one in authoritative circles would predict today when the end of the strike might come.
Although no serious outbreaks of violence have attended the strike thus far, turbulent tendencies have cropped up in several localities and in a few, state troops have been mobilized for strike duty if necessary. In other states troops have been asked but have not been ordered mobilized. In no state thus far have troops been put into actual strike service.
Governor Hyde of Missouri, has refused a request for troops for duty at Slater, where three Chicago & Alton railway employees are reported to have been kidnapped and where an outbreak is feared. Several companies of Illinois militia are under mobilization orders as a result of threatened disturbances at Decatur.
Hope that a peace parley involving B. M. Jewell, of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, and the United States Railway Labor Board, might soon be called, was somewhat dispelled by the announcement of Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Labor Board, that the strikers must return to their jobs before their claims before the board can be given consideration. It is reported that Jewell is prepared to insist that the labor board rescind its wage reduction orders as the first plank in his "peace platform."

The question of the attitude of the railway signalmen toward the strike, is to be determined at a conference today. D. W. Holt, head of the signalmen, has called all of his executive aides to Chicago and they will meet with the labor board this afternoon. It is expected the signalmen will withhold strike action for the present, at least.
Several minor outbreaks took place in Chicago during the night. Approximately 100 men, armed with rocks and clubs, rushed several street cars on which they suspected railway workers who are not on strike, were being taken to their jobs. Several men were taken from the cars and beaten. Shots were fired into a Chicago & Northwestern railway roundhouse, but no one was injured. Homes of two men who remained at work when the strike was called, were bombarded with missiles.

PRETTY GIRLS AND FINE HORSES AT SPARKS'S CIRCUS.

Manager Charles Sparks of the Sparks circus which exhibits in Kingston next Tuesday, prides himself on two things—his ability to raise blooded horses, and his ability to select charming girls to ride them. Outside of Macon, Ga., where Mr. Sparks maintains his home and where the winter quarters of the circus are located, his large farm, where much time is devoted to the training of the splendid steeds which play so prominent a part in his circus.
Although a large corps of expert horsemen are retained there all year round at an enormous expense, Mr. Sparks gives his horses his personal attention. While he has specialized in native breeds, his stables include a number of fine Arabian horses, gathered during his travels in the near east. The trained horses with the circus this season are valued at more than $30,000.
But it takes more than perfect horses to make an exhibition of equestrianism complete and attractive. The fine, sleek, well-kept animals are shown at their best only when ridden by pretty girls. Here Mr. Sparks finds his southern home ideally located, for within a short radius are hundreds of beautiful girls—"Georgia peaches" in birth and looks—from whom he selects the dashing equestriennes who have added so much to the fame of the Sparks circus.
The public will have ample opportunity to view both maid and horse in the lengthy street parade which leaves the grounds promptly at 10:30 a. m. circus day.
New Uptown lunchroom.
James P. Lyons on Monday will open a lunch room at 56 John street, just around the corner of Wall street and adjoining Clermont Hall and the public automobile parking grounds. Several porcelain top tables, new chairs, dishes and cutlery have been purchased and a modern kitchen installed. The exterior and interior of the building have been repaired and electric lighting put in. Quick service will be the specialty.

Boys Break School Windows.

A certain crowd of boys are using up some of their surplus energy by breaking windows in School No. 7. To date seven have been broken in this manner and unless this rather expensive practice is stopped some arrests are likely to follow.

JUDGMENT FOR HENRY AFFIRMED

Appellate Division Holds Jury Acted Properly in Case Against Sparkler Manufacturer for Burns Suffered by Child.

The appellate division of the supreme court at Albany on Friday unanimously affirmed the judgment obtained by James Henry, as guardian ad litem of Kathryn Henry, an infant, against the International Sparkler Company, which was tried before Judge Hasbrouck and a jury in the supreme court in this city last fall, and in which a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $2,581.71.
The action was brought to recover damages for injuries sustained by Kathryn Henry in being burned when her dress caught fire from the use of a sparkler manufactured by the defendant company. The child lives with her parents at Port Jervis and the suit originally was brought against Alexander Crook, the dealer who sold the sparklers, and also the International Sparkler Company, but when the case was brought on for trial it was dismissed as against Mr. Crook with the consent of the plaintiff.
The appellate division holds that the case was properly tried and that the jury was justified by the evidence in answering the questions submitted to them in the manner in which they did answer. Under these questions and answers, the jury found that the sparklers were the sparklers of the defendant; that the child was not negligent and the mother was not guilty of any negligence imputable to the child that caused the accident; that there was negligence on the part of the defendant in offering this article for sale for use of children.
The appellate division in the opinion written by Judge Van Kirk states that it does not hold the sparkler itself was inherently or imminently dangerous. They are not more dangerous in themselves than the small fire cracker or the ordinary match. All these articles were intended to be used by mature people of ordinary understanding. These sparklers, however, were intended for the use of children of tender years, immature, who are not chargeable with understanding, sense of danger and prudence; young children who must be warned of danger.
The legend upon the package, says the court, was more a recommendation than a warning. A parent could very naturally get the impression that these were entirely harmless "safe and sane" pieces of fireworks, to be used indoors or outdoors, and no danger could be suffered from their use, except if one touched the glowing end and a burn would follow. The statement that they may be used indoors, where are usually rugs and carpets and other inflammable material during the holiday time, would give one the impression that a fire could not be ignited by their use. The clothing of children is often sheer and easily inflammable. The court thinks a duty rested upon the manufacturer of such an article intended for the use of children to give a reasonable warning of those dangers which would naturally follow and which a person of ordinary sense and understanding would apprehend would be likely to follow, the use of the article for fireworks.
The court holds also that it was not improper for the jury to take some of the sparklers to the jury room when they retired to deliberate.
On the trial of the case and in the appellate division, Amos Van Elten represented the plaintiff. Judge James Jenkins represented the International Sparkler Company. Mr. Crook was represented by DuBois J. Gillette.

STRIKERS MEET IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Discuss Possibility of Getting Engineers Out Under Technical Union Rule—Strike-breakers Quit In Newburgh.

The Poughkeepsie Eagle-News says:
Shop and yard men from New York city and Albany met with Poughkeepsie shopcraft strikers here Thursday night and discussed the strike situation in the Hudson Valley. Reports rendered declared strikers were out in full at the shops at West 71st street, New York, Harmon, Rensselaer and West Albany.
The possibility of enlisting the aid of engineers in the strike was considered. It was pointed out that by a ruling of the U. S. Labor Board an engineer cannot do the work of overhauling his engine allotted to shop men and that there is a possibility engineers may decline to run trains which have not been overhauled. Several engines are reported to have been parked in the local yards pending the making of repairs long delayed. Eight car inspectors have returned to work and one man in the roundhouse, here.
Delays Reported.
Delays are being experienced on the New York Central Railroad, the fast expresses taking their share of the setbacks. Broken air-hose have occurred frequently in the last few days between Harmon and Poughkeepsie, it is said.
At Newburgh several of the men employed in the round house of the Erie have gone out with the strikers, so that both the West Shore and the Erie are now affected by the strike at Newburgh. No trouble is being experienced, but there are delays in train schedules. Ten men are on strike in the down-river city.
A party of strike-breakers who arrived at the Erie round house this week were allowed to remain without interference until Wednesday when some of the strikers notified them unless they left, there would be trouble. Twelve of the strike-breakers quit work Thursday morning and left for New York, their spokesman, a Greek, declaring they had received no wages, although they had worked 25 hours and that the railroad had refused them transportation back to New York, despite the fact they were penniless.

EARS REAPPEARING AND LEGS DISAPPEARING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 8.—Feminine ears, long hidden through a vagary of fashion, are again making their appearance in Paris, but as the ears appear, the legs disappear, according to Mrs. Irene Castle Tremaine, dancer and movie actress, who arrived from Europe today on the Cunard liner Berengia.
"The American woman who goes to Europe wearing the short dresses seen on the streets here, immediately finds herself out of style," said Mrs. Tremaine. "Not only are women dressing their hair so as to show their ears but earrings are coming back into general fashion again."

DEMOCRATS LEAN TO "AL" SMITH

But Syracuse Conference Fails To Squelch Hearst, as Was Intended—Lunn Strongest Candidate For Senatorial Nomination.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, July 8.—Democratic organizations of twenty-seven up-state counties went on record yesterday in their unofficial party conference as favoring the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for Governor. Mayor Lunn of Schenectady is second choice.
William R. Hearst's candidacy was denounced and given a hard knock, but was not killed, only stunned. It still has life enough left to cause a lot of trouble for Tammany and the Democratic party.
Smith for Governor and Lunn for United States Senator may be the ticket in the field next autumn, but there is a long, hard fight ahead for the party. It was by no means the unanimous action expected by the managers who got up the conference to sidetrack Hearst.
Seventeen counties were not represented. Several presented favorites, the most popular being Judge Frank Irvine, who made such a big run on a wet ticket in the Ithaca district a few weeks ago.
After trying all day to steer clear of all mention of Hearst's name, William Church Osborn wound up the proceedings by denouncing Hearst charging that he was trying to commit political burglary and offering a resolution as follows:
Resolved, that in the opinion of this conference the coming state convention should nominate only Democrats of proven standing for the high office of Governor and Senator.
It was adopted by an overwhelming vote. No record was taken, but probably 190 at least of the 200 delegates voted for it. There were a few scattered noes. Then on top of that the conference flopped all the way back the next minute by adopting a resolution declaring that the sense of the gathering was that it would support any candidates named by the party convention in September, "whoever they may be."
This second resolution was sprung on the conference at the last moment by E. S. Slaughter of Ithaca, and when many of the delegates were leaving their seats, but it was passed with only a faint no against it and it furnished the Hearst backers on the sidelines with great consolation.
Although none had a good word to say for Mr. Hearst and it was perfectly obvious that the great majority of the up-state Democrats are against him, his supporters gathered thick enough encouragement from the conference to admit of a fighting chance and they tried to work up a celebration tonight at their smoker at the Democratic Club. The thing they make the most of is that seven counties were not represented and the representatives of the counties were not authorized spokesmen and did not voice the true sentiment of their sections. That charge was made by Mayor Fitzgibbon of Oswego before the conference.
But to political observers it seemed that it was false comfort the Hearst people found. There may be some Hearst spots in the state, as was indicated, but in the roll of the nearly thirty counties recorded for Smith are Erie, Monroe and Onondaga and most of the important municipalities in the state. And the spokesmen for those counties were the organization chairmen. The vote of the Smith counties would swamp that of the counties not represented or doubtful.
The one certain thing resulting from this meeting is that the name of Alfred E. Smith will be presented to the State convention with pledged support which is so strong as to put him far in the lead. Mr. Hearst may be able to get some delegates, but Mr. Smith now has a big lead, so big that the organization leaders feel quite positive he will be the nominee.

The Women Delegates, Speaking for their organization, were more emphatic than the men in their antagonism to Mr. Hearst. They are bitter about it. From all sections of the state they reported strong sentiment for Mr. Smith.

There was a considerable demonstration for Mr. Smith when his name was first mentioned. It came in a letter written by Franklin D. Roosevelt, expressing the belief that the one-time governor should be called to take the nomination. The hand clapping and shouting lasted two minutes. Every delegate for Mr. Smith received a generous hand. Those who did not were heard in silence. The way was made easy for Charles F. Murphy to throw the Hearst boom if that is his wish. Many believe such was the real purpose of this gathering—to open the way out for Mr. Hearst without a break with Mayor Hyman.

In the face of the record made today it would be little short of political suicide to nominate Mr. Hearst, the leaders all say. And yet the Hearst men declare positively they will go ahead with their fight and carry it through to the convention. The only thing that can stop it is for Mr. Hearst to declare himself out of the race.

Camden, N. J., July 8.—Responsibility for the wreck of the "midnight fier" on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Sunday night at Winslow Junction, in which seven men died, was placed yesterday upon John De Walt, the Winslow trowman, and Walter Westcott, the engineer, by representatives of four agencies investigating the wreck. Westcott was killed in the accident. The investigation will be concluded tomorrow.

The Investigators' report, it was said, will lay responsibility upon De Walt for not reporting properly the empty train preceding the express and for not availing himself of the means of identifying the train, although the investigators conceded that bad weather made identification difficult.

The report will state that Westcott passed signals set against him. The Camden dispatcher's office was exonerated of blame attached to it by De Walt, who claimed that he had not been informed of the approach of the empty train. According to De Walt's story, he opened the switch on the Atlantic City main line for a freight train after the empty train, which he thought was the express, had passed. The signal was set against the fier, but it took the junction at full speed, ran into the switch and hurtled down an embankment.

This practice, the complaint says, "tended through fear of incurring liability for infringement to induce persons receiving the advertisements, to purchase respondent's product, regardless of quality or price, rather than any competing product."

To Acquire Woodstock Land By Condemnation

Water Board Adopts Resolution to Have Survey and Map Made Preliminary to Taking Necessary Steps to Acquire Lands Along Sawkill in That Village—Asks State to Inspect Watershed in Woodstock.

The board of water commissioners at its regular monthly meeting adopted a resolution to have a survey and map made up of the lands adjoining the Sawkill creek in Woodstock preliminary to taking condemnation proceedings to acquire control of the waters of that stream. The board also decided to obtain an inspector from the state board of health at Albany to make a thorough inspection of the watershed in the town of Woodstock.

The action taken by the water board was due to the fact that for a number of years summer boarders and some of the residents of Woodstock have made a practice of swimming in the city's drinking water. When the board leased lands abutting on the creek and posted the land with signs forbidding trespassing the summer boarders and a few others held a mass meeting to protest against "their rights being infringed upon," raised a war chest fund to defend any caught swimming in the creek, and the following day held a parade of bathers numbering about one hundred who plunged into the "ole swimmin' hole" opposite the Risley farm house in Woodstock.

As a result of that episode the water board promptly proceeded to obtain an injunction which was served on Dr. Mortimer Downer, the health officer of the town, and four others. Last Saturday the hearing on the injunction was adjourned for a week.

In taking steps to condemn the land and acquire control of the waters of the Sawkill creek the water board proposes to keep the watershed as free as possible of contamination and to insure a clean and healthful supply of water for the residents of Kingston.

BLOCK PARTY SCENE OF BEAUTY

Bright Moonlight Aids Legion Auxiliary in Producing Attractive Effect—2,500 Enjoyed It.

About twenty-five hundred people attended the moonlight block party given Friday evening at Academy Park and on Maiden Lane by the American Legion Auxiliary of Kingston Post, No. 160.

There was an elaborate program of dancing and community singing which preceded the dancing. The community singing was led by Harry P. Dodge and the huge crowd joined wholeheartedly in singing favorite songs. Florence Feely Roberts and her partner gave an attractive cakewalk which was greatly appreciated. Aesthetic dancing by Sylvia Ballard and toe dancing by Marion Kellow were also features of the entertainment which brought appreciative applause. Miss Marie Farrell acted as accompanist. Selections by Muller's orchestra completed the entertainment.

Dancing took place on the Willits pavement on Maiden Lane between Albany and Clinton avenues, and the block was thronged with dancers until a late hour.

Along the Maiden Lane side of the park the women of the Auxiliary had erected booths for the sale of cigars and cigarettes, candy, soft drinks and refreshments, and all the booths carried on an active business. The booths were decorated with bunting and flags and made an attractive appearance with their handsome looking attendants.

Strings of various colored lights above and around the booths and the platform used by the entertainers which also was occupied by the orchestra, and the entire scene, with the bright moonlight, was one which was one of exquisite beauty.

SECY WAINWRIGHT SCORES PACIFISTS

"Fanatics" Unfited to Destroy Patriotism to Which America Owes All She Possesses.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Leesburg, Va., July 8.—Insidious propaganda is being directed against the fundamentals of American government and pacifists are seeking to render the United States a weakling among the nations of the world by destroying the army and navy. Acting Secretary of War Wainwright declared in an address here today.

Speaking at the dedication of a memorial to Loudoun county men who died in the World War, Wainwright declared that groups of "fanatics" throughout the country were trying to destroy from within institutions which no enemy was able to destroy from without.

"Since the great war, innumerable 'isms' have sprung up in our country, whose declared or undeclared objective is to destroy Americanism to which we owe all that we possess as a nation," Wainwright said. "Groups of peoples and classes are organizing for every kind of a purpose except a patriotic one. Insidious propaganda is being directed against all the fundamentals of our government."

"The most pernicious of all are those who are striving to substitute internationalism. They would destroy from within, what no enemy has ever been able to do from without—our ideals of government, constitution, institutions, liberties and leadership in the world."

"The pacifists who were silent during the war and missing from the ranks of our defenders would destroy our instruments of defense—the army and navy—and render us a weakling among the nations without influence or prestige in the world's affairs. These internationalists and pacifists—working together and in most instances the same people—are even trying to induce our youth to forswear allegiance to our flag and refuse to defend it. If such are not enemies, who is?"

SERVING TABLE FOR AN AUTOMOBILE

August Bryson of Chicago has just invented an automobile serving table, which will greatly add to the enjoyment of autolets, and when not in use can be utilized by picnickers. The table fits on the side of the car and lunch or refreshments can be served on it. When not in use it can be folded and occupies very little room.

The photograph shows one of the tables being used on an automobile.

DIRT IS ANCIENT ENEMY OF MOTOR

Undesirable Near Working Parts of Chassis Because It Starts Rapid Wear.

KEROSENE BATH IS FAVORED

Unclean Engine Means Loss in Efficiency and Premature Trip to Repair Shop—Starting Motors Require Attention.

Dirt is undesirable no matter where it is, but the average automobile owner has yet to learn that dirt on the running gear does more than merely cover up some painted or unpainted metal joints seemingly as tight as a mechanic can get them allow dirt to pass through. The reason for the dirt being so undesirable near working parts of the chassis is not so much because it doesn't look well but because it eventually gets to a moving surface and starts rapid wear.

Around the engine and other parts of the car there are supposedly tight joints in addition to actual openings. Take the front end cover, commonly called the timing gear case cover. Vibration may loosen a few of the holding nuts, allowing the cover to move away from the crank case a small fraction of an inch. With an accumulation of dirt over the cover some of the dirt is bound to get to the gear teeth. Dirt and lack of lubrication of front end gears are responsible for rapid wear and noisy operation.

Every owner ought to keep the engine clean by an occasional kerosene bath. Spray kerosene all over the engine and wipe off every bit of dirt you can. This goes for the crank case as well as the parts that you can see when you lift the hood. Dirty oil, oil with sediment, old oil not changed for some time are all causes of rapid engine wear.

How many owners ever see to it that the combination breather and oil filler is clean on the inside? In some designs there is every chance for a quantity of dirt to settle on the inside, and that is washed down into the crank case when the next oil filling is made.

A dirty engine means a loss in efficiency and a premature trip to the repair shop, where the cost of parts replacements will be higher than expected. The timers are usually covered with mud and dirt, and this gets inside, cuts the segments, interferes with proper ignition, and brings about the need for a new timer in a few months. Look inside of a timer that is generally dirty on the outside and one will find dirt also. Generators and starting motors on the average car do not get very much attention of any kind by the owner but they deserve a good cleaning. Some starting motors are not fully inclosed, while others, even when covered, seem to accumulate dirt.

I would suggest to the owner that, when he has a few hours to spare during any month, he give the engine a thorough cleaning, removing dirt from all joints, from oil holes, and the like. The underneath parts of the car are admittedly hard to get at, but that should not be an excuse for total neglect. Underneath the car there may be many places that require oil through small cups, all holes, etc. While some manufacturers are so far behind as to continue to use oil holes in exposed places, the owner of a car using them should not let them become filled with dirt. If I owned a car with exposed oil holes on cross shafts and other parts I would have a mechanic install automatic feed oil cups.

Universal joints at best are hard to lubricate, and even if covered with a leather boot are not proof against the ravages of dirt and mud. The more dirt that you allow to accumulate around these parts the more dirt will get to the working surfaces.

Relic of Bronze Age.
A tomb of the Bronze Age has been found by a farmer at Berwick, England. While plowing a field a horse put its foot into a hole, which was found to contain a clut of an unusual type consisting of a cover and four sandstone side slabs. Inside were the remains of a human being, parts of which were well preserved. There were also parts of an urn which were sufficient to show that it was of the beaker, or earliest, type of the Bronze age, and probably dates from about 1500 B. C. Two small flint flakes were also discovered in the clut. One is of the type known as a thumb scraper, which was used as a chisel.

High Citizenship Great Need.
Our flag is most eloquently described and lauded. The principles for which it stands are emphatically pronounced superior to all others. These endangered, are protected with life and treasure, but would require less sacrifice if given constant service of highest citizenship.—Exchange.

CANVAS MUDGUARD IS GOOD FOR SPEEDSTER

Devices Are Removed to Reduce Weight and Vibration.

Oil Cloth Affords Necessary Protection From Dust and Mud—Illustration Shows Method of Attaching to Car.

When rebuilding a car into a speedster, the removal of unnecessary parts is desired on account of the reduction in the weight. Mudguards are removed because of this and the vibration that ensues when riding at high speed. It is, however, desirable to provide guards for protection from dust and mud when the car is used for riding other than on the track.

Oil cloth mudguards afford protection without adding to the weight or causing vibration. In the appended illustration the manner of attaching these is shown. Each fender is held by a single support from the side of the body or frame. Using these as supports for the upper end of the guards, the canvas is led from these to the running-board or to brackets.

The canvas should be doubled and seamed, then soaked in linseed oil to make it waterproof. When made about eight inches in width, these afford all the protection the driver requires and are noiseless and the weight is reduced to a minimum.—Popular Science Monthly.

USE VASELINE ON TERMINALS

Best Medium Available for Coating Connections—Prevents Corrosion From Acid.

The car owner should not forget that ordinary vaseline is perhaps the best medium available for coating battery terminals and connections. The vaseline has the great advantage of preventing corrosion from acid or water that may have been spilled.

YOU AUTO KNOW

That in cold weather a kettle and a diaphragm—or any other convenient piece of cloth—are often invaluable in starting a car that otherwise refuses to work. The cloth should be wrapped around the carburetor so that it does not cover the air intake and boiling water should then be poured on the rag, always being careful not to let it get into the intake. The application of the hot water will heat the carburetor and intake pipe to such a degree that the engine will "catch" almost instantly, although in extreme cases it may be necessary to fill the cooling system with hot water so that the carburetor chamber may be raised to the proper temperature. Whenever difficulties of this kind are encountered, however, cool water should be applied first, then warm and finally hot in order to avoid a too sudden expansion of the metal which is likely to crack with surprising ease. It should also be remembered that increasing the richness of the gasoline mixture by means of the primer or choke is usually very effective in starting with a cold engine. ## XXV. USEFUL THINGS TO REMEMBER

That a crystal detector set is never as efficient as a vacuum-tube set, no matter what sort of equipment you use.

That a crystal detector set cannot be satisfactorily amplified.

That most small or cheap sets cannot tune out local interferences.

That grid-leaks are not used on crystal detector sets, but only on vacuum-tube sets.

That a large tuning-coil with wires spaced closely will give better results than a short coil or one with wires far apart.

That a vario-condenser and a loose-coupler gives finer tuning.

That a vacuum-tube is about thirty times as efficient as a crystal detector.

That a wave length has little to do with the distance you can receive.

That 3,000 ohm receivers will often raise a cheap set from inefficiency to excellency.

That a loading-coil is not needed with a loose-coupler and variable-condenser.

That if two or more crystal sets are used on one aerial only one can be used at one time and a switch must be provided to throw sets out and in.

That a loose-coupler is better than a tuning-coil.

That a loose-coupler should be placed between aerial and ground.

That money saved in buying cheap head phones or receivers is really thrown away and that a great deal depends upon the phones.

That aerials and lead-ins should be shunted across head-set.

That in setting up an aerial one long wire is better than many shorter ones.

That the lead-in counts and a long lead-in is an advantage.

That aerials and lead-ins should be insulated from everything else.

That aerials should be placed as high as possible.

That when placing aerial near elevated structures, wires, bridges, or steel buildings it should be placed at right angles to them and as far away as possible.

That 7 strand, phosphor-bronze wire is the best for aerials, but ordinary No. 14 copper wire will do.

That continuous waves penetrate everything.

That the lead-in from aerial should be at end of aerial which is towards the sending station you most often wish to hear.

That aerial does not have to be horizontal.

That for sending, a many-wire aerial is far better than a single wire.

That a counterpoise is better than ground, particularly in sending.

That an indoor wire will serve for an aerial, but is not so good.

That an iron bedstead or spring-bed will do for an aerial in case of necessity.

That the simplest and cheapest vacuum-tube receiving set is better than the best crystal set.

That the best form of receiving set is the regenerative set.

That a vacuum-tube or regenerative set may be amplified to almost any extent.

That an ordinary phonograph horn attached to a local telephone receiver will increase the sounds somewhat and will act as a loud speaker.

That a variable-condenser helps fine tuning.

That the filament battery of a vacuum-tube set may be a dry battery, but that it is more expensive in the end than a storage battery.

That the Ultra Audion circuit has the plate circuit led back to the honey-comb-coil and amounts to a regenerative set.

That the best type of vacuum-bulb receiving set is the regenerative with amplifiers.

That each step of amplification requires another tube.

That if there are too many turns on the inductance they may be taken off to secure tuning.

That the distance you can receive depends upon various climatic and other conditions.

That the filament lighting does not always mean the set is operating properly.

That if filament rheostat is turned on suddenly the filament may be paralyzed and must be left to recuperate before it will glow.

That burning the filament too brightly merely wastes the filament and shortens the life of the tube without adding anything to the efficiency of set.

That a variable grid-leak can be made with pencil marks on paper and may be altered by erasing or adding lines.

That some tubes are best for detectors, others for amplification and others for transmitting or as oscillators.

That it is often cheaper to buy ready-made accessories than to make them.

That all joints in wires (except in binding-posts) should be soldered.

That the ground connection should be soldered to a water, gas or similar pipe or to a large copper plate buried in the ground.

That the steel girder or frame of a building makes a good ground.

That sending or transmitting sets must have a license to comply with the law.

That the fire departments have special regulations regarding the installation of aerials.

That an aerial cannot be placed across a street without permission.

That aerials do not attract lightning and if provided with a gap or lightning switch are perfectly safe.

That the best in the way of materials is always cheapest in the end.

That when using a sending set the low voltage should be turned on first or the tube may be ruined.

That in a sending set the battery should always be turned off from the phone circuit when not in use.

That a sending set is always better with a counterpoise than with a ground.

That it does not pay to try to make certain instruments.

That while wireless telephones are so easily adjusted and simple a child may use them, they are also very delicate affairs and are easily put out of adjustment or ruined by carelessness.

That you must not expect too much for your money in ready-made or home-made sets.

That a set may act very differently on different days or under different conditions.

That you should not condemn your instruments until you are sure the fault is not in yourself.

That loose connections, poor insulation, poor ground, poor joints in wires, worn insulation, wires crossing and many other small matters may put a set completely out of business.

That you can seldom improve upon a ready-made set by adding anything to it, but can do better by building a new set.

That every accessory or piece of apparatus is made for a specific purpose and that you should consult the manufacturers or dealers as to the best for your purpose before purchasing.

That the most expensive sets are not always the best, as oftentimes finish, cabinets and elaborate fittings add to cost without increasing efficiency.

That while a receiving set may be made to go inside a safety match box such things are merely toys and are not for household use.

That when a dealer advertises that a cheap set can receive signals from a certain distance, be sure to find out if he means code signals from rad telegraphic stations or sounds of voices, music, etc. No one can guarantee how far a set will receive as too many outside factors influence this.

That like everything else each and every maker claims his sets are the best. Investigate several before buying.

That anyone with the least mechanical ability can build wireless telephone sets if they purchase the parts which require special knowledge, skill or devices for making.

That the prices of most sets do not include batteries, tubes or phones.

That a storage battery must be recharged as soon as it becomes weak or your set will not work.

That the vacuum-tube is one of the most delicate devices ever invented and should be treated accordingly.

That no license is required for receiving sets and the air is free to all who want to listen-in.

That all broadcasting stations publish their daily programs.

That the worst interferences are the nearby sending stations. So don't add to others' troubles by sending unless you have good reasons or are sincere in your experiments.

FIFTY HOUSES BEING ERECTED

At the present time there are fifty houses under construction in Kingston. Of that number seven are bungalows. The majority of the houses being erected are of the one-family type. The addition of fifty new houses which will be completed before winter will help greatly to relieve the housing shortage in the city.

This floor has been oiled and waxed, until it will compare with any city dancing floor.

Walter Shults and Earl Watson will furnish the music. Mrs. Cross is on the track of some jazz attachments, to be handled by a talented young man which should add greatly to the gaiety.

A Cadillac car owned by Elmer Molyneux short-circuited as his son Abram F. Molyneux, started to drive it from his residence on Clinton avenue at the head of John street to The Uster Garage on Fair street about 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, and in an instant the car was shooting flames from one side. ## A BUSINESS COUPE FOR BUSINESS MEN

This car represents a new and important achievement in commercial transportation.

For the first time in motor car history, business men are enabled to buy a closed car, the body of which is built throughout of steel.

The advantages of this all-steel construction—reserved until now to open cars—are particularly marked in a coupe built to weather the wear and tear of hard commercial usage.

Immediately you will be impressed with the beauty and lightness of this coupe. Time will convince you of its unusual stamina. The doors snap neatly shut. Body squeaks are eliminated. Dodge Brothers enamel is baked on the surface of the steel—a permanent lustrous finish, impervious to wear.

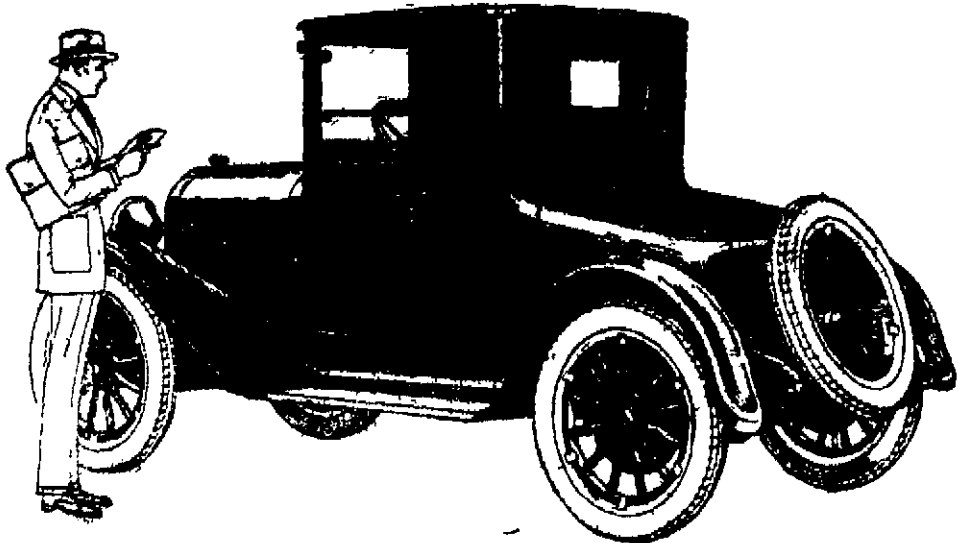

The interior is roomy and thoughtfully equipped with every appointment necessary to the owner's comfort and all-weather protection.

Business houses that equip their salesmen with motor cars have been quick to recognize in this coupe a very unusual investment.

ROODBOY'S HIT SOME BOUNCER

Captain of Gallupers Lost His Own Game to Busters in One of the Most Remarkable Plays Ever Filled Off in Mountain League—Bare Was One Lively Ball.

"Just because a team drops a game by a score of 16 to 1 is no reason for panicking it, and saying it is a 'bum team,'" remarked the Old Fan, "for I have seen the best of them drop a game now and then."

"Now's that?" asked the Young Fan.

"I remember well the day that Captain Roodboy's fast galloping Gallupers dropped a game to the Busters in the Mountain League, and it was one of the most remarkable plays ever pulled off in that remarkable league."

"And the queer thing about it was that Captain Roodboy lost the game himself on his own hit."

"Shoot it along," urged the Young Fan.

"They were playing on the Busters' home lot," continued the Old Fan, "and the game was one of the fastest ever seen on that diamond. The Busters had managed to annex a run in the eighth frame and that was the only run chalked up when the Busters came in for their half of the ninth but went down before the slants of the Gallupers' twirler."

"Then the Gallupers came in determined to stage one of their famous ninth inning rallies and cop the game. The first two Gallupers went out on strikes and then Captain Roodboy himself was up."

"Win the game, boy," the fans implored. "Captain Roodboy needed no urging, however, and after having a strike registered on him he caught the second one on the end of his bat. It sounded like the crack of a cannon as ball and bat met and the ball sailed off on a dead line for first base. The Busters' first sacker reached out his glove to catch it, and here is where the remarkable play came in."

"The ball struck the edge of the first baseman's glove and shot off on an angle to second base where the second sacker's glove deflected it in the direction of third. Whether you believe it or not the third baseman also was unable to catch and hold the fast flying ball for it struck the edge of his glove, which deflected it toward home plate, where the Busters' catcher stood with outstretched glove. The ball bounded into the glove and the catcher by a mighty effort was able to prevent it leaping out."

"In the meantime Roodboy in a desperate effort to overtake the ball was dashing around the bases and slid into home plate just a quarter of a second behind the ball."

"Trace out," shouted the umpire, but his voice was lost in the riot that followed the witnessing of the most remarkable play seen in some time."

"That sure must have been some lively ball," murmured the Young Fan.

"It was," assured the Old Fan solemnly.

The ordinary photographic plate, which is not color sensitive, is really blind to certain colors. These colors are reds, yellows and greens. The result is that all are rendered black in the print. Suppose one wanted to photograph a sunset with a design in black, red, yellow, and green. The ordinary plate would render these colors almost all the same. In the picture it would be difficult to say where the red ended and the yellow began. ## BROTHER BACON'S IDEA

"Grunt, grunt," said Brother Bacon. "What have you to say for yourself, squeal, squeal?" asked Grandfather Porky Pig.

"Grunt, grunt, what have you to say? I'd like to know, too," said Miss Ham.

"So would I, squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pink Pig.

"And I'd like to know," said Master Pinky Pig.

"As long as we haven't anything to eat," said Pinky Pig's mother, "it is a good time to hear what Brother Bacon has to say. Of course if we had anything to eat it would be foolish to listen to him."

"Very foolish indeed, squeal, squeal," said Miss Ham.

"Extremely foolish, grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky Pig. "In fact I shall use a very strong word. It would be idiotic."

"You are right, Grandfather Porky," said Sammy Sausage. "Yes, you are quite right."

"Quite," said Mrs. Pink Pig. "squeal, squeal, you are quite right."

"Of course I am right," said Grandfather Porky. "I haven't lived all these years in the Pig Pen not to know that I'm right in what I say. I have lived a long time with myself and myself and I agree perfectly on all important questions."

"But let young Brother Bacon speak, for this is a good time for him."

"I have an idea," said Brother Bacon, and all the pigs squealed and grunted and wiggled their little twisted tails and looked out of the corners of their eyes and winked at each other.

"Good for Brother Bacon," they shouted. "He has an idea, hurrah, hurrah, three cheers."

Brother Bacon didn't mind what they said. He didn't even mind it when Grandfather Porky said that it would be idiotic to listen to him were there anything to eat. In fact he quite agreed with Grandfather Porky as far as that was concerned.

"Yes," said Brother Bacon. "I have a real idea, and I want to talk it over with all you pigs."

They all gathered about and listened to Brother Bacon.

"Of course," he began. "I'm not sure whether the farmer would agree to my suggestion, and I don't even know if he would understand if I tried in my pig fashion to explain my suggestion to him. But he might, he might. I have ideas on how to explain it to him."

"What is your suggestion?" they all squealed. "Tell it to us."

"Yes, I want to talk it over with all of you first," Brother Bacon said. "I thought it might be a good idea if I could persuade the farmer to let me go over to the neighboring Pig Pen and there call upon one of the young Miss Pigs I've seen in the distance."

"Brother Bacon has fallen in love," all the pigs squealed and they winked at each other again.

"Nonsense," said Brother Bacon. "Then why would you go a-courting?" they grunted.

"Ah," said Brother Bacon. "I would go a-courting with the idea that my bride would help me with the marketing. I see the farmer's wife help bring in the milk and the eggs and she gathers beans and peas and so forth."

"I would have a mate to help feed me. She would be my true mate and I would teach her to be a loving, dutiful pig mate from the start."

"Your idea is no good, no good," said Porky Pig. "In the first place you're very conceited as you're no idea whether your Miss Pig would accept you. But I hope she wouldn't. For she's a pig, you know, even if she looks like a lovely bride from afar."

"No, don't let's get another pig into our pen. They've had one of the food that we would otherwise have. And help you?"

"No, Brother Bacon, your idea is very foolish. She would not help to feed you, but would make you unhappy with her greedy ways."

And Brother Bacon agreed with Porky Pig's sentiments so he decided that there would be no Mrs. Brother Bacon—at least while he thought as he did now.

SPECIAL GOOD THINGS

Prepare a chicken for frying, marinate it for three hours in lemon juice and olive oil, using one part lemon to three of the oil; add herbs to season. Drain and dip each piece in beaten egg, well seasoned with salt and pepper, then in crumbs; fry in deep fat. Drain, place on a platter and pour around it a sauce prepared with a cupful each of milk and chicken or veal stock, thickened with egg yolk seasoned with parsley, minced mushrooms and lemon juice.

Coffee Cup.—To a pint of strong coffee strained through linen add one-third of a teaspoonful of almond extract after heating to the boiling point and adding two well beaten egg yolks; stir until it thickens, then add two tablespoonsful each of cream and sugar. Remove and cool, pouring it into a pitcher with a pint of sweetened ice-cold whipped cream, a quart of charged water and a pint of shaved ice. Place shaved ice in tall glasses, then add the coffee mixture, twice the quantity of charged water and top with whipped cream.

Virginia Baked Ham.—Soak six or eight pounds of smoked ham over night, drain and bring to the boiling point. Remove the skin, spread with peanut butter, stick with a dozen cloves and place fat side up in the roasting pan. Put a little peanut butter with celery or celery seed and a bay leaf or two in the pan, adding a little water; baste occasionally for three hours. Use one-half pound of peanut butter; this gives something of the flavor so well liked in peanut fed hogs.

Buttered Asparagus.—The toughness of the asparagus stalk may be tested with the thumb nail and the part that the nail will not penetrate may be easily cut off, put to cook in boiling, salted water and then the asparagus removed before the tender portions are added, or if the tips are tied in a bunch they may all be cooked together. Remove the stalks, arrange them in a dish and pour melted butter over them.

It was formerly believed that working with indigo dyes caused fits of melancholy, as the chemical worked on the system through the skin. As the dyes were nearly always stained blue in parts of their bodies, the phrase came into current use to express low spirits or moodiness.

KEY MINES LIKELY TO BE SEIZED

Government Operation of Them Form Only Way Left to Harding to Secure Fuel for People Next Winter.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 8.—Ultimate seizure of key mines to guarantee supply of fuel for next winter has virtually been decided upon by the Harding administration as a final move to end the nation-wide coal strike. It was learned on reliable authority today.

The president is said to have held out the possibility of this action as a threat to the miners to bring about a settlement of the strike through arbitration. His advisers, however, are urging him to use the strike on Monday with an executive proclamation ordering temporary government operation of "key" mines, to meet the national emergency.

The president is understood to view this plan favorably, but will not make a final decision until he has consulted with Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Secretary of Labor Davis and other officials, upon his return here tonight.

Attorney General Daugherty, it was learned today, practically won the president's consent to the proposed action while on his visit to Ohio this week.

The president's "last hope" for arbitration, was to offer a plan to the operators under which they were to agree to return the miners to work under the old wage scale pending a re-hearing of the wage scale case and a thorough investigation of the mining industry. In the miners' camp, it was freely stated today these terms would be acceptable, but the operators said the settlement proposal "could not be given serious consideration."

With all peaceful means of a settlement gone, the president would be compelled to turn to one of two courses: first, government operation of the mines; and, second, private operation of the mines, under the protective guarantee of federal troops.

The first course, now considered unavoidable, would not be an indication that either the operators or the miners had won the strike, although in labor quarters, it would be taken as the fulfillment of a long-desired shift in ownership. The use of troops to permit private operation, however, would prove a vital blow at organized labor. It was said in the miners' camp, and it was felt that such a step would never be taken by the federal government. Such a step, it was pointed out, would sound the death knell to mine unions, and, it was declared, the government does not seek to crush organized labor.

Chicago, July 8.—Chicago became the golfers' mecca today as players who will compete in the national open championship tournament at St. Shokko Club next week, began flocking here from all corners of the world. The official entry list for the tournament closed with 344 nominations, the largest that has ever entered for the open title.

The field is thoroughly representative, embracing most of the prominent professional and amateur players of the United States and Great Britain.

Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, two of Britain's great professionals, will carry the burden for their clan. Willie Hunter, former British amateur champion, A. Armour, the Scotch crack, Sandy Herd and J. H. Taylor, the British veteran, are others who will compete for the "light little title."

AMSTERDAM HEARS WIRTH CABINET IS TOTTERING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, July 8.—The political and financial position of Germany has become so desperate that it is believed the Wirth cabinet cannot last another week, said a despatch from Germany today.

If the main story falls, it is anticipated that a coalition government will be formed.

German monarchists and militarists are increasing their attacks, charging that the Wirth government has ruined the nation by consenting to every demand of "enemy powers."

PRESIDENT AT CAPITAL TONIGHT

Arrives to See Coal Production Resumed—Only Hasty Trip About Taking Over Mines Caused by Fear of "Playing the Miners' Game."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Enroute With President Harding, Uniontown, Pa., July 8.—Impatient to reach Washington and resume his contact with the pressing problems that confront the administration in the industrial situation, President Harding left the Summit House, in the mountains here, early this morning on the last leg of his long motor journey to the capital.

His hopes, barring mishaps, to reach Washington by early evening, although hard and fast driving will be necessary to make it.

For a hundred miles today, the route led through the mountains, which made for slow progress.

It is believed a number of telegrams received by the president here last night prompted his decision to press on to Washington as early and as speedily as possible today. Among the messages were several from Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, the administration's chief negotiating officer in the conduct of the coal settlement.

As yet no word has come from the president that he has determined upon any definite line of action to get the warring factions together again and coal started from the idle mines. The belief prevails, however, that more vigorous action than has yet characterized the administration's policy in the strike, will be seen next week if the miners and operators persist in their refusal to get together.

To Secretary Hoover's message, President Harding merely replied last night that he would be in Washington tonight.

The administration is confronted with the necessity of proceeding carefully in the deadlock for fear of being charged with "playing the miners' game."

Representatives of the operators have not failed to call to the president's attention that the miners might be glad to see failure of the peace negotiations in order to force the government to take over and operate the mines to prevent public suffering and distress.

While the president's plan for ending the strike, if he has one, is yet unrevealed, it was made emphatic today that he is determined upon one thing—that production of coal must be resumed in time to prevent public suffering.

MURDER JURY CONSIDERS 13 NIGHTS AND ACCENTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, July 8.—James J. Flannery, charged with the murder of his young wife early last February, was acquitted at 9:40 o'clock this morning, after the jury had deliberated 15 nights and 14 days. It was the longest deliberation of a jury in the history of Allegheny county. Flannery was charged with first degree murder. He set up a defense that he had mistaken his wife for a burglar and had shot at a shadowy form in their home just after midnight. He claimed he thought the shadowy form was an intruder, but when he fired his wife screamed "My God, Jim, you've shot me." He immediately reported to the police.

HURLEY

Hurley, July 7.—James Schmidt was in the village over the Fourth. Dr. Nash, after an eight weeks' stay in Kingston City Hospital, is again at home.

Miss Etta Myer is visiting Mrs. Nash.

Mr. and Mrs. James McPherson of Albany are spending vacation days with his sister, Mrs. Schmidt.

Wesley Ten Eyck went to New York City Tuesday to take up a position in the Bankers' Trust Company there.

The Fourth was exceptionally quiet in the village. Only an occasional firecracker or torpedo reminded us of the day. Once in a while a pistol shot enlivened the quietness.

A large new electric sign is being erected in front of the Eagle Hotel on Main street. An electric sign has also been erected in front of the Nakos candy store on Wall street.

Patrolmen Broom-Raps.
An arch-enemy of clutter is the brown-raps, of which there are no fewer than one hundred and eighty varieties. Their method of robbery is to penetrate the ground with their roots just so far as the roots of their favorite host. On these they feast themselves, and feast on the sap which the victim unwillingly makes for them. Raps shed never dies. It may lie dormant in the ground for years; but it is there all the time, waiting for the first opportunity to grow.

Dickens' People.
How poor the world of fancy would be, how "disappointed of her dreams" if, in some role of the social system, the books of Dickens were lost; and if the Dodger and Charlie Bates, and Mr. Cratchit and Miss Squeers and Sam Weller, and Mrs. Gamp and Dick Swiveller were to perish, or to vanish with Menander's men and women. We cannot think of our world without them; and, children of dreams as they are, they seem more essential than great statesmen, artists, soldiers, who have actually worn flesh and blood, ribbons and orders, gloves and uniforms.—Lang.

GERMAN CHAOS CONCERNS BRITAIN

Lloyd-George Fearful That Her Economic Collapse, Believed Inevitable, Will Drag Down Lot of Other Shaky European Governments.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 8.—British officials openly expressed fears today that the financial and economic collapse of Germany is inevitable. Premier Lloyd-George is giving his personal attention to the problem. The British cabinet has it under advisement.

The value of the German mark, worth 24 cents cash in pre-war days, has shrunk until it is possible to buy from 535 to 537 of them for one American dollar.

It is reported that the supreme council may be asked to take up the German situation with a view to recommending relief measures.

It had been reported that Great Britain approached George Harvey, American ambassador, with the informal request that the United States suggest means of preventing the complete collapse of Germany, but Ambassador Harvey denied this.

The financial and economic chaos of Germany have multiplied since the assassination of Dr. Walter Rathenau, late German foreign secretary, and the foremost constructive economic expert in the country. German leaders blame French pressure for the present plight of Germany.

The German situation, according to widely held belief, is fraught with dangerous political possibilities. Politics have been boiling in Germany ever since the assassination of Dr. Rathenau with the Communists and Socialists combining against the monarchists and militarists.

Bavaria is said to be seething with monarchist activities. Germany officials at Berlin, supported by Socialists and trade union leaders, are doing what they can to meet a counter-revolution.

According to the original report, Premier Lloyd-George intimated to Ambassador Harvey that Great Britain is ready to co-operate with the United States if American business men are able to arrange a program that will prevent Germany from going to pieces economically.

Premier Lloyd-George is fearful that if Germany goes over the brink, this will be the beginning of a wave of bankruptcy that will sweep Europe, carrying half a dozen now tottering governments to their doom. Austria, Hungary, Poland, Russia, Greece, Turkey, Portugal, Spain and possibly Italy, are in a bad way financially. Their industries and trade are suffering heavily.

OPPOSED CREAM IN COFFEE

Frenchman, a Century Ago, Ascribed All Sorts of Human Ills to this Custom.

Arsene Thiebaud de Bernand, a librarian a century ago to the Bibliotheque Mazarin, Paris, opposed with ferocity the then comparatively new custom of adding milk or cream to black coffee. The latter, in the author's language, was "consoling, joyful and, I had nearly said, spiritual" in its effects. But let ever so small a quantity of milk or cream be added and the result upon the human economy was most disastrous.

Since the dawn of this vicious custom pneumonia and consumption in the cities had increased one-half and rural communities formerly immune were now beginning to show cases of these ailments.

According to Le Progres Medical, which obtained the above information from a new popular review, La Connaissance, de Bernand claimed that many eminent physicians shared his opinions. He seems to have had an obsession that all mixtures of fluids were injurious, and extended his prescription of milk addition to tea, chocolate and spirits. Sustained by this pre-conceived notion, he was able to publish a long diatribe in 1826, in which he accuses cafe au lait of causing almost every derangement known to medicine. But, rabid as he sounds, he was famous enough to admit that perhaps 10 per cent of the people might be tough enough to drink cafe au lait without disastrous results.—New York World.

BUILDING UP BUFFALO HERDS

Department of Agriculture Has Had Gratifying Success With This Part of Its Work.

Forty-six new buffalo calves are reported on three of the four game preserves maintained by the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture for the special protection of buffalo. On the national bison range, in Montana, there are 417 buffalo, including 28 calves born this spring. Fifteen calves are reported at the Wind Cave preserve, in South Dakota, and 3 at Niobrara, Neb.

The department has been very fortunate in maintaining the herds established at these three points and at Snags Hill, North Dakota. There are relatively few large buffalo herds now scattered over the country, and the biological survey has made special efforts to provide suitable ranges and protection for what threatened a few years ago to become an extinct species of Native American animal.

The Sex of the Planes

When the negroes of Stanley Pool saw the first two airships of the Belgian postal service land in the Congo region, their first impulse was to run away. However, on recognizing the uniform of the officers who descended from the apparatus, they immediately returned.

The next day their fear had completely disappeared. Why should they be afraid of these big birds? Were they not tamed by the white men? For they were surely a couple of birds; and without hesitation they pointed out the male bird and then the female.

Asked by what they could distinguish it from the other, they replied that it was not difficult. The male bird descended first, then he called his female, that came down to land after him.

It is Mr. Louis Franck, minister of the Belgian colonies, who told this story at the Sorbonne.

VOTERS' LITERACY CERTIFICATE RULES

New Voters This Fall Must Prove Ability to Read and Write—School Officials to Aid.

The State Board of Regents at their last meeting, adopted rules governing the issuance of certificates of literacy to new voters. Under the provisions of the amended election law all persons who vote for the first time must be able to read and write English.

The law provides that local election officials may give an examination consisting of reading an excerpt of fifty words from the state constitution and writing ten words, or the local election officials may accept a certificate of literacy issued by the school authorities.

A certificate of literacy may be issued by local school authorities under regulations adopted by the Regents to applicants who present evidence that they have successfully completed the work prescribed for the fifth grade of the public schools of this state or equivalent training in private schools or schools outside of the state. Those who are unable to meet this requirement must successfully pass an examination in reading and writing before the certificate of literacy is issued. This simple test in reading and writing has been carefully prepared by a group of leading educational experts and it is expected that it will have a marked influence upon the attendance upon the evening factory and home classes in the state.

During the past year over 80,000 foreign born men and women were enrolled in the evening schools. Thousands of these people were unable to read and write English when entering the evening school. The fact that they are required to be able to read and write English before being eligible to vote will be an added incentive to continue their studies.

A large number of the schools in the state will be open evenings for one week early in October to enable new voters to secure a certificate of literacy. The public school officials are anxious to co-operate with the election officials in raising the educational qualifications of voters.

PLANTS NEED COLD WEATHER

Experiments Have Shown That in Northern Countries a Certain Amount is Essential.

According to common belief, cold weather causes plants to become dormant during the fall, while warm weather the succeeding spring again incites new growth. Intensive investigations of Dr. Frederick V. Coville of the federal Department of Agriculture, which have been conducted over a period of ten years, and which have covered every phase of this subject, demonstrate that both of these traditional theories are erroneous. Dormancy in our native trees and shrubs begins some time before the start of cold weather each winter; the appearance of Jack Frost is not necessary for the establishment of complete dormancy. Furthermore, after such a condition of dormancy has developed, exposure of the plants to the ordinary growing temperature thereafter does not arouse them from their lethargy so that they begin growth anew.

Interestingly enough, the Coville experiments show that plants which have responded to the lure of autumnal and winter dormancy will not react properly and resume normal growth the following spring unless they are subjected during the interim to a period of chilling. A certain amount of cold is essential to stimulating the plant growth.—Scientific American.

LIARS PRETTY WELL MATCHED

American Evidently Found Foeman Worthy of His Steel, in Old English Farmer.

An American poultry farmer went over to England to have a look round the poultry farms there and see where the farmers were making mistakes. He did not hesitate to tell how far advanced was the art of poultry keeping in America, and spun several very tall yarns on that subject.

Twenty chickens from twelve eggs appeared to be an everyday occurrence in the United States. If the stories he told could be believed, But a bluff old English farmer was not unduly impressed.

"Happen, mister," said the old man, "I have never seen as many as a hundred chickens hatched by one hen at a setting."

"Well," answered the American, "I can't say that I have, but—"

"Well, then, listen here, mister; I have," returned the farmer. "Down Ipswich way we always fill a barrel with eggs and set the old hen on the bung-hole!"—Houston Post.

GERMANY WILL WEATHER STORM, PREDICTS GERARD By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 8.—That Germany will weather the terrific political and financial storm through which she is now passing, was the belief expressed by James W. Gerard, former American ambassador to Germany, who arrived from Europe today on the Cunard liner Berengaria. Mr. Gerard did not visit Germany while abroad, but said that while he was in England and France, he talked with many persons who had first-hand knowledge of German conditions.

"I did not visit Germany because threats had been made against me as well as other well known Americans," said the former ambassador. "No doubt they would have taken a shot at me if they got an opportunity."

Mr. Gerard said that the chief reason for his visit was to assist Count Sigray (his brother-in-law), who was arrested in Hungary for his efforts to restore the late Emperor Charles to the throne. Count Sigray is now at liberty and has been elected to the Hungarian parliament.
